CALIFORNIA WILL REAP BIG PROFIT

Advertising Through Exposition Will Bring Quick Returns

The action taken by the special session of the Legislature, which was have been the one thing required to make the Panama-Pacific International Exposition an enterprise in which all California can well afford to become interested. In the archives of State legislation there is no record of a measure equally important upon which all factions, parties and sections agreed so promptly and so completely. The reflecting citizen will grasp quickly the value of a California united upon the larger and more essential things, and probably will decide for himself, after the twentieth century fashion, that the achievement of this result is worth all that the exposition is likely to cost in the matter of taxes.

There is the probability, however, that California will profit immediately through the unusual forms of advertising that the State secures abroad through the 1915 fair. It is many years since the region west of the Mississippi River was afforded a chance to demonstrate its strength of added population in an issue so broad and clean-cut, and it is along the Atlantic Coast that men and women are awaiting with interest the decision of Congress in this test of grit, enthusiasm and resources. From this same territory California is drawing the larger part of its population and it seems idle to attack the argument that 10,000 new people, acquired during the two years following the passage of these State amendments, would more than compensate for the expenditure the State is called upon to make in the fight against New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS FIGHTING HARD

Powerful Railroad Influence at Work for Southern City

Every little while you hear some knocker say that New Orleans is doing everything to get the big fair in 1915 and that San Francisco is doing nothing. This week there was generally circulated a story that it had been found by our Chamber of Commerce that 90 per cent of the big commercial organizations of the country were tied up to New Orleans and that the other 10 per cent were non-committal.

Now, there wasn't any truth in that story, and there isn't any truth in the statement that the New Orleans committee is doing far more effective work than is our own committee. Our committee is in reality doing much better work than the New Orleans committee. But there is a great and powerful influence at work in favor of New Orleans, and it is that influence that must be fought hardest if we are to win.

I refer to the influence of the Illinois Central, the Southern Railway and other railroad lines that would be specially benefited by having the fair at New Orleans. Our own Southern Pacific has a terminus at New Orleans as well as at San Francisco. So it is a good deal tied up. But the Western Pacific, Salt Lake road and Santa Fe are in a position to help us out a lot if they will pitch in and combat the influence of those Southern and Middle Western roads.—Oakland Tribune.

NEW CALIFORNIANS, ATTENTION!

If you are a Californian, newly arrived in this State, you can assist in the effort to bring to the Pacific Coast the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915. Get the spirit of "Post Card Week" and have your Eastern friends and acquaintances and relatives join with you in a postal bombardment of the Congressman or Congressmen most likely to give attention to your appeal. When San Francisco wins you will have the satisfaction of having contributed materially to the result.

A Lively Contest.

San Francisco and New Orleans are engaged in a lively contest for the proposed Panama-Pacific International Exposition of 1915. The California Legislature was convened in special session to authorize $10,000,000 for the enterprise. The citizens of San Francisco have raised $7,500,000 on the side, giving them a total of $17,500,000 to bid, with more in sight if necessary. New Orleans has up to date secured pledges for but $7,850,000 to finance the exposition. Both cities are putting up a good fight and it demonstrates the remarkable civic spirit of both. May the best man win. — Pittsburg Post.

In acting promptly and as a unit the citizens of San Francisco and the people of California show the energy and spirit which would naturally entitle them to the award of an exposition of progress such as that of 1915 promises to be.—Spokesman-Review.

A Love Story

The Teller Brings About a Real Ending Herself.

By F. A. MITCHEL.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

I am an old maid. I have never had a love affair and never expect to have one. Perhaps this is why I take an interest in the loves of other people Nothing is so attractive to me as to watch a young couple drifting into that current which at first moves so imperceptibly that they are not aware they are in it. Indeed, so unconscious are they of being incipient lovers that it does not occur to them to conceal the fact from any one else.

I remember one day sitting at my window sewing when a boy and a girl passed on the other side of the road. The boy's straw hat was dingy, and there was plenty of ventilation in its crown. His only other clothing was a shirt and trousers. No shoes or stockings, nothing around his throat, his collar being open and displaying the tanned skin. The girl's clothing was neither better nor worse, and there was about as much of it.

The two were evidently absorbed in each other. What they were talking about I was too far from them to hear, but it was of vital importance. It may be that the boy had been "kept in" after school and they were indignant over time thus lost to play. It may be that some urchin had smashed the china head of the girl's doll. Whatever it was it was being discussed with animation.

And I maintain that these childish interests are of more real importance for the time being than those which come later. No addition to an adult's stock of wealth gives the same test as a new toy to one of these little people.

Often afterward I saw these two, and always together. In this they were different from other children who play, boys with boys and girls with girls. I learned that they were Henry Morse and Lila Bunker, a farmer's boy and farmer's girl. Indeed, we were all farmer folk, all knew one another, everybody being interested in some degree at least in every one else; a simple community and more than usually free from the petty jealousies common to mankind.

Henry Morse's father was determined that his son should have a good education, and the boy was sent away to school. After this I used to see Lila going by our house, but no companion supplied Henry's place. She was always alone, and I fancied her thinking of her other self. But this was simply fancy on my part. As I have said in the beginning, not having had any love affairs of my own, I conjure up love affairs for others. In this case of Henry and Lila I knew nothing of what was passing between them except from observation, so I may be excused for filling in occasionally that the story may not seem too disconnected. At the last I was present and shall not have to draw on my imagination.

When Henry came back from school there was a more modish appearance to his clothes and on his manners. Poor Lila, who had remained on the farm, had only an unadorned beauty, freshened by pure air and sunshine. They were now about sixteen years old, though Henry was half a head taller, and I could not see that their interest in each other had waned, though the childish unconsciousness that they were of different sex had disappeared. I used to see them go by the house together as formerly, but the prattle of childhood had given place to the more sober conversation of youth. I often wished I could hear what they were saying to each other.

Henry did so well at school that his father decided to send him to college. I wondered what effect his four years' association with young men and women of the world would have on my pet love affair. I feared that Henry, having become used to the polished girls he would meet, would return to see in Lila a country girl lacking the airs and graces of her sisters of the city. Would this alienate him? It was to be expected that it would. And though country born and bred myself, I don't know that those of us who go to the city and acquire city ways are to be blamed when we return and yield to dissatisfaction at country ways.

Henry remained away a year at college before he came back to the farm. Then one July morning, when sitting at my window darning socks, I looked up, and there on the opposite side of the road were the couple I had first noticed eight or nine years ago as children. Though Henry was plainly dressed, his clothes were not country clothes. It seemed to me that he might pass anywhere as a city bred young man. And Lila—how my heart went out to the poor child in her effort to dress in a fashion more in keeping with the apparel of those girls to whom Henry had been accustomed! It was all inference with me, but it was plain to see that she had prepared herself against his return to modify the difference between her and their habiliments.

I wondered if he noticed this and if it pleased or displeased him. Surely her effort was not very successful. In the country one may get city fashions, but it is not every worker who can make them up. But in the few moments they were passing it was impossible for me to tell if there had been any change in Henry's feelings for Lila. So I pieced out the story in this wise: Henry was beginning to see the difference between her and the girls he had met. I mean by "her" her clothes—a certain deficiency in what city people call chic. I am not referring to Lila as a soul, not even as a body, for in bodily beauty she would doubtless far surpass many a city girl. Well, what do I refer to? Why, clothes and manner; that's all.

After this Henry seldom came home during vacations. I heard that he usually went camping with his fellow students. At any rate, I lost track of my lovers. I was reluctantly obliged to consider my story, if not finished, at least passing through a stage of interruption. Henry had become interested in a career which would have nothing to do with farms or farmer people. When he was graduated I learned that he was intending to study medicine. But before he entered a medical college his father, who spared no expense on his education, sent him abroad. When I heard of all these matters, which were taking him farther and farther away from provincialism and his provincial sweetheart, I groaned in spirit, for I saw that my love story was likely to end in nothing.

It was some time before Henry was to leave the medical college that I heard bad news of Lila. They said she had some trouble that was dragging her down, but the doctors could not discover what it was. They could not diagnose it—that is what they called it. Her father sent to the city and brought a doctor to the farm especially to see if he couldn't tell what was the matter with her. The doctor said he couldn't find any organic trouble, whatever that means, and the only remedy he thought might benefit her was change of scene. He advised her father to take her on a trip. But Farmer Bunker couldn't afford to do that, and Lila didn't care to go.

I considered this merely a part of my love story. It was plain to me that Henry Morse had drifted away from the little girl I had seen him going by our house with when they were children, and the parting was killing her.

They say story writers often fall in love with their imaginary characters. Therefore it's not strange that a story creator like myself should fall in love with a real person of flesh and blood. I had always known the Bunkers, so I went to see Lila. That was in the spring—May, I think. I found her sitting in an easy chair at her window, pale, languid and without interest in anything. It may be that she devined by my bearing toward her that I knew what was the matter with her. At any rate, when I went up to her, took her hand and drew her head down on my shoulder she left it there and seemed to get relief from the tears that came.

While she was weeping on my shoulder I was thinking. Not having any lover to bring back for myself, I wished I could bring back one for this poor girl. And I formed a plan.

But it was some time before I carried it out, not till summer came. Then I told Lila's parents that I thought it would do her good to come and make me a visit. Since Lila said she would like to do so, they consented, and within a few days she was in my room, the room from which I had first seen her go by with her child lover. I said nothing about Henry Morse either as boy or man any more than if he didn't exist. But when I put Lila in an easy chair at the very window from which I used to watch her and him and thought of her as she was then and saw her as she was now I made up my mind that if I was going to make a good, real story of her case I couldn't rely on things to happen themselves. I'd have to bring them about myself.

I was thinking, too, that my love story had been going on long enough and it was time it was brought to a close. Besides Lila was so weak that I feared in her condition she'd contract some real disease. So I wrote Dr. Henry Morse, who had just been admitted to practice, that I had a patient in my family who was dying of some disease that none of our country doctors could tell anything about and I would pay him whatever he asked if he would make a flying trip and diagnose—I spelled it diagknous—the case.

He wrote back that he remembered me very well and would run down in a few days.

Of course I didn't let on to Lila what I had done. She, poor child, wasn't dreaming what an influence my seeing her go by my window so many years before would have on her life. I hoped Henry would come as soon as possible, for she was drooping more and more every day.

Well, one morning he came. He said he had answered my call after his arrival even before going home. I was glad of this, for I was fearful he'd hear something that might interfere with my plan. I just led him upstairs, opened the door, and he went in and I closed it behind him.

I reckon he didn't make as long a call as that on a patient for a good many years. I don't know what happened between them didn't see the surprise of either of them. All I know is that when he came out two or three hours after he went in he looked at me as though he was going to say something, but pressed my hand instead. Then I went in to Lila. She had the happiest smile on her face I ever saw. She put her arms around my neck and cried and laughed. And that's the end of the story.

I don't see why real story writers don't do something themselves to finish their own stories.

FRANCIS J. HENEY has taken the stump for Kent. It is now up to Dr. Cook, who has recently come out of hiding, to do likewise. Both are in the same class.

AT last it has come out. Teddy Roosevelt is trying to repay his obligations to the American people for having finely elected him president. This accounts for his actions. He is a well-meaning man and appreciative, so that's why we're getting ours.

Grand Jury in Session Yesterday

The Grand Jury convened in Santa Rosa yesterday to consider the Kendall murder case, one of the most atrocious crimes ever committed in Sonoma county. District Attorney Lea has been untiring in his efforts to bring the guilty parties to justice and if the murderous Jap who slew the Kendall family and then made good his escape is still alive it is an even chance that the culprit and those associated with him in the crime will yet be prosecuted by one of the best District Attorneys this county ever had.

Sonoma Odd Fellows Visit their Santa Rosa Brethren

A delegation of Odd Fellows from Sonoma Lodge, No. 28, paid a fraternal visit to Santa Rosa Lodge last Thursday night. There was a large gathering present and the work of the order was exemplified by a degree team of the Santa Rosa Lodge, who conferred the third degree on two initiates from our local lodge. A banquet followed and speech making and social converse were in order the balance of the evening.

The Republican Nominee for the Assembly

Hon. H. W. A. Weske, the Republican nominee for Assemblyman of the Fourteenth district, was in town last Saturday and favored this office with a friendly call. Mr. Weske served the people of this assembly district in the lower house of the California Legislature two years ago and made an excellent record as an exponent of the people's rights on every measure that came up for passage in the assembly. He has again been selected by the Republican party to serve another term and if good stewardship counts for anything in these days of rascality in high places we take it that Mr. Weske should receive the votes of the people of his district regardless of party affiliation. Vote for him and you will make no mistake.

Hay Market Still on the Bum

Somers & Co., in their weekly bulletin issued on the 11th inst., say that "the receipts of hay for the week past amounted to 4790 tons which we might state is considerably more than was anticipated for it was thought that there would be some difficulty in obtaining hay for shipment from the warehouses, the fields having been cleaned up. However, farmers holding hay on storage seem in many sections quite willing to sell and therefore sufficient hay was forthcoming to supply all demands. For a few days it looked as though we would see a higher market and there was a stronger tendency although during the last day or two it has been impossible to sell hay at the same figures as were obtained a week ago.

The export and shipping demand of late has been very good, especially for alfalfa although there has been an increase in the shipment of grain hay from the harbor. This demand aids very materially in disposing of the surplus hay which is constantly being brought into San Francisco.

Tickling in the Throat

"Just a little tickling in the throat!" Is that what troubles you? But it hangs on! Can't get rid of it! Home remedies don't take hold. PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NOTES.

Doings of the Various Sets in Both Town and Valley.

Mrs. Adam Adler visited in San Francisco the fore part of the week.

Mrs. Amelia Bates left for San Francisco last Wednesday afternoon for a short visit with relatives.

Supervisor Blair Hart was in town last Wednesday on business connected with his duties in this township.

Clarence Nauman, the crack wing shot and trap shooter, has gone to Mexico for the winter for the benefit of his health.

Mrs. P. N. Stofen and Miss Stofen will entertain their lady friends at their beautiful home on Broadway next Tuesday afternoon.

The many friends of Mrs. M. E. Murphy, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia, will be pleased to know that she is rapidly recovering.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. A. D. Lowell last Tuesday afternoon and were delightfully entertained by the genial hostess.

Miss Mary Valente, accompanied by her father, D. Valente, returned from a week's visit with rslatives in Stockton, San Joaquin county, last Wednesday.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Day were in attendance at the sem-annual meeting of the Sonoma Association of Congregational Churches and Pastors which was held in Santa Rosa on Thursday of this week.

On Sunday Oct. 23rd., beginning at 7.30 P. M., the pupils of the Congregational Bible School will present a cantata entitled "Golden Harvest Days." All parents and friends are cordially invited to be present.

Mr. S. Campanella, many years ago engaged in the merchandising business here, is now conducting a prosperous gentlemens' furnishing goods store in Santa Rosa. He is located in the Hotel La Rosa building, opposite the Northwestern Pacific Railroad depot in that city.

The ball given in Union Hall last Wednesday evening by the P. F. and J. orchestra was well attended. The music was highly praised by the dancers, who pronounced it splendid. The orchestra intends to give a series of social hops in Union Hall during the winter months.

Mr. E. Lafranchi, and family who have resided on the Buena Vista ranch for several months, have moved to Yuba City, Sutter County. During their brief stay here the Lafranchi's made many friends who regret their departure. Mrs. Lafranchi is the daughter of V. Piezzi, the well-known farmer of Santa Rosa.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Ramsdell of San Francisco, accompanied by H. H. Granice, autoed in their big 60 horse-power machine to this place, via San Rafael, last Sunday morning, and visited the Wickers and other friends here. They returned to their San Francisco home the same afternoon, making the return journey in two hours.

Edward H. Brown candidate for County Clerk was in town last Friday and paid this office a friendly call. Mr. Brown is the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Santa Rosa, and is a young man of more than ordinary ability. To him more than to any other one person was due the marvelous success of the great apple show in Sebastopol last August. During his periodical visits to this valley Mr. Brown has made many friends and will undoubtedly poll a heavy vote in this section of the county.

WANTS LEASE TERMINATED

Mrs. Emma Fetters Commences Suit to Oust the Lessee, Morris Levy, and to Recover $1,500 Damages

Suit has been instituted in the Superior Court of this county by Mrs. Emma Fetters, owner of the Fetters' Springs at Agua Caliente, against Morris Levy, who leased the premises last season for a term of years and changed the name of the popular resort to "Eleda Hot Springs." Mrs. Fetters asks that the lease of Levy be terminated and that she be awarded damages in the sum of $1,500.

In her complaint, which is a volumnous one, Mrs. Fetters recites many instances where the terms of the lease have been broken.

The property in question is a valuable one and embraces an investment on the part of Mrs. Fetters of over $75,000 cash. It is one of the best appointed summering resorts in the Sonoma Valley and under proper management ought to pay a handsome profit on the investment.

We understand that when Mrs. Fetters' suit is decided she will take possession immediately and conduct the Springs herself. With that object in view she is planning many additional improvements on the property, such as the erection of a number of handsome cottages surrounding the hotel grounds.

As Mrs. Fetters is a great believer in patronizing home industry this will mean more business for our local merchants and more work for our mechanics.

The attorneys for Mrs. Fetters in her suit against Morris Levy are H. P. Mathewson of this place and William F. Cowan of Santa Rosa.

WEALTHY FARMER PASSES AWAY

William H. Hyde, a Pioneer Settler in Sonoma Valley, is Dead at the Age of Ninety Years

William Herschel Hyde, one of Sonoma Valley's wealthiest farmers, died on the Hyde ranch, near Schellville, last Saturday from old age.

The deceased, who located in this valley many years ago, was the owner of one of the largest and most valuable farms in this valley, which he had successfully cultivated for over forty years. Last year he disposed of a portion of his landed estate which was subdivided into a number of small farms, materially adding to the wealth of the valley.

The deceased, who was a native of Rochester, N. Y., had reached the remarkable age of 90 years, and up to a few months of his death, was mentally and physically the equal of most men at sixty.

Mr. Hyde, who was devout member of the Congregational Church, leaves a large family of children and grandchildren to whom his property will revert by will.

Memorial services were held in the Congregational Church in this place Sunday morning, after which the remains were shipped to San Francisco for interment, the funeral taking place from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. F. Lewis of 1?5 Lyon street, on Monday afternoon.

Wedded in Santa Rosa

Miss Etta Engelund and Emil Cornelius went to Santa Rosa last Wednesday and after securing a marriage license from the County Clerk's office were quietly married in that city.

The young couple, who were born and raised in this valley, had long been engaged. They will make their home here on Napa street, which the young groom had already prepared for his girl bride.

Consolidation of Rural Telephone Lines

The Clear Lake Telephone and Telegraph Company of which Fred L. Wright is secretary and manager has decided to issue bonds for $300,000. The company will at once take charge of the Clear Lake Gold Ridge and Northwestern Electric Companys' lines, which comprise over 2,000 miles of rural telephones in Sonoma, Lake, Mendocino and Napa counties. The company has a big capital and is doing a thriving business.

District Sunday School Meeting

The annual convention of Sunday school workers of Sonoma Valley district will be held in the M. E. Church, Sonoma, on Thursday, October 20th. The session will begin at 2 p. m., and the evening session at 7:30 o'clock. Chas. A. Fisher, State Secretary of the Sunday School Union, and Mrs. Fisher, also Rev. Mr. Ayers, a Sunday school missionary, will assist in the work of the convention and several of the officers of the county union will be present. Delegates and visitors will be entertained. All are cordially invited to attend and Sunday school workers are especially urged to be present.

Robt. P. Hill of Eldridge, Democratic candidate for County Treasurer, was in town last Tuesday and dropped into our sanctum for a friendly chat. Mr. Hill, who is a pioneer resident of this valley, is very popular at home and although this valley is largely Republican he will hold his own here.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT IN EL VERANO.

While in a Somnambulistic State Mike Mullen Suffers a Fall Which May Cost Him His Life

At about midnight last Sunday young Mike Mullen of El Verano, employed in Mullen's store in that place, fell from a rear porch of the two-story store building, and received injuries which may prove fatal. He is now in the Leix sanitarium in this place suffering from a fractured skull, but the doctors have hopes of pulling him through.

It appears that Mullen arose from his bed while in a somnambalistic state and after dressing walked from his sleeping apartment, which is located over the store and postoffice, through a hallway to a rear porch, from which he either leaped or fell to the ground below, a distance of twelve feet. He struck squarely on his head. He was all but rendered unconscious by the fall but was able to pick himself up and call for help. Nearby neighbors came to his assistance and young Mullen, who was almost helpless, was given temporary assistance, after which Dr. Leix was sent for and had the young man brought into town for treatment at his sanitarium, where he is doing as well as could be expected.

At latest accounts the patient had at no time lost consciousness and if no unexpected complications set in is in a fair way to recovery.

Was in the Railway Wreck at Ignacio

W. F. Bachelor, of the Golden Eagle Milling Company of Petaluma, was in town several days this week on business connected with his company. Mr. Bachelor still bears the scars of the fatal railway wreck near Ignacio two months ago, in which fourteen people lost their lives and as many more were crippled for life. He occupied a seat in the fatal smoking car which claimed all the victims of the disaster, being seated directly in front of Herman Bayer of Santa Rosa, who was instantly killed, and his escape from a similar fate was simply miraculous. Mr. Bachelor, however, suffered terrible injuries which were, when he was dragged from the debris, thought to be fatal. Through careful nursing assisted by a powerful physique, he managed to pull through after many weeks of suffering, but it is doubtful if he ever fully recovers from his injuries.

Miss Amy Rowe, a milliner of six years experience, has arranged to take orders at Hotz's dry goods store on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays from 3 to 5 p. m. of each week. At other times Miss Rowe will meet her customers at the Davis residence on Broadway.

Woman's Club Notes

Notwithstanding the warm weather last Friday afternoon, nearly twenty ladies were present at the regular business meeting. After the usual routine, attention was called to the "Federation Courier," the wide-awake little magazine published by the State Federation and of important interest to all club women. Subscriptions at 35 cents were taken for the coming year, and a copy ordered for use in the Public Library.

Mesdames Hill and Wagnon were elected delegates, together with President Stofen, to the District Federation, which is to meet in San Francisco Nov. 9-11.

After some talk regarding manual training in our Public Schools, Mrs. Stearns, chairman of the Educational Section, was appointed to see what could be done toward establishing such a department in our Sonoma school.

At the social meeting next Friday, Mrs. Osborne of Santa Clara will speak on "Civil Service Reform."

First Heavy Rain of the Season

This valley received a visit from Jupiter Pluvius last Monday night and heavy showers fell at intervals up to Wednesday. The precipitation was about an inch and did no damage to the grape crop most of which has been harvested. The precipitation laid the dust and put the roads in excellent shape for traveling. Thursday morning the sun came out in all its splendor and the day was an ideal one. The precipitation this week portends a rainy season, so the weather prophets say.

Brought Here for Interment

The remains of Dr. F. M. Hackett, who died in San Francisco last Sunday, were shipped here for interment in Mountain Cemetery last Thursday. The deceased, who was for many years a prominent dentist in Napa, married the widow of the late Dr. Vaslit, a pioneer resident of this city, who passed away many years ago. Dr. Hackett was 82 years of age and had long been a resident of this State.

He was an Odd Fellow, Mason, and a member of the California Pioneer Society, and a number of representatives of those societies accompanied the remains from San Francisco to this place. The funeral was held under the auspices of Sonoma Lodge, No. 28 I. O. O. F., whose members attended in a body and conducted tne funeral services at the grave side.

Willie Parrent Passes Away in Santa Rosa

Willie Parrent, the twelve-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parrent of this place, died in Santa Rosa, last Wednesday, whither he had been taken for medical treatment. The cause of the lad's death was an affection of the heart.

NEW ORLEANS IS GREATLY WORRIED

Unsatisfactory Census Returns Not Least of Its Troubles

New Orleans' fear that the census returns, which give that city a population of 339,075, will have an unfavorable effect on its prospects of securing the Panama exposition may not be entirely without reason, but, in the opinion of the Portland Oregonian, the slow growth of the Southern city will not be the greatest handicap to the realization of its ambition to win the exposition fight. The Oregonian says:

"It is not at all clear why the difference between what New Orleans expected and what she received in the way of Government census figures should materially affect the status of the exposition. New Orleans has other and more weighty factors to contend with in this contest for the exposition honors. So far as the matter has progressed, it would seem that the Southern city could not be assured of more than one-half the amount of financial support that is already guaranteed the San Francisco exposition. On the Pacific Coast every large city within a thousand miles of San Francisco is working harmoniously with the California metropolis to secure the celebration of the big event on this Coast.

"New Orleans may have some outside support, but it does not approach in volume that which is accorded San Francisco. The amount of money pledged for the San Francisco exposition is so great that it would be unreasonable to expect the Government to add enough to the New Orleans fund to make the Louisiana affair approximate in importance the one which will be held on this Coast. With California holding a celebration which in every respect would outshine the one held in New Orleans, it would be idle to presume that the Government would withhold its sanction and support from the greater exposition in favor of the smaller one. The New Orleans Picayune takes Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane to task for advising the Californians to proceed with their big show irrespective of what Congress may do and seems to think that if the Government withholds its financial support from the enterprise it will also withhold its official sanction. This is hardly probable.

"The exposition at San Francisco will be held in honor of the greatest industrial and commercial project that the world has ever undertaken. It will have back of it the credit and integrity of the State and the indorsement of the entire region west of the Rocky Mountains. An enterprise of such a colossal nature favored by so large a number of people cannot well be ignored by the Government. The magnitude of the affair made possible by the generous support given it will compel Government recognition. The Panama Canal Exposition should be held at San Francisco because no other port that is in any manner eligible for the honor can muster anywhere near the support that will be given the affair if it is held on the Pacific Coast. If the Government should discriminate and lend support to a smaller affair at New Orleans, the Western exposition would still prove a more attractive project for both American and foreigners."

People's Interests Guarded.

It is now up to the people of California on November 8th to decide whether the constitutional amendments, authorized by the State Legislature last week, permitting the State to tax herself for $5,000,000 and San Francisco to tax herself $5,000,000 more, shall be passed. The failure to pass these amendments would in all probability mean the giving up of the great project to hold the Panama-Pacific world's fair in San Francisco in 1915, and letting the honor go to our rival, New Orleans. * * *

The Legislature has well guarded the people in the matter of the time and terms on which the $5,000,000, if voted, shall be taken from the treasury. If San Francisco, for instance, does not vote her bonds, or make good her $7,500,000 subscriptions, no money will ever leave the State treasury for exposition purposes. The State Commission to be appointed to take charge of the proposed $5,000,000 State exposition fund will protect the people in this matter.

California cannot afford to let it go out to the world that she has failed in such an important undertaking. * * * The fair will boost California, and this section of the State, naturally, will be the most benefited.—Auburn Republican.

Must Win the Fight.

There is no division of sentiment in California on one thing, viz.: The place of holding the 1915 Exposition in celebration of opening the Panama Canal. From San Diego to Siskiyou the cry is San Francisco. San Francisco's only opponent is New Orleans. But New Orleans is no weak sister. She has the Mississippi Valley States pulling for her, and the Pacific Coast States must put up a strong fight to win. With San Francisco's offer of financial assistance properly placed before the Legislature in extra session, a proposition to bond the State for $5,000,000 will go to and will be endorsed by the people in November. The fight up to this point so gallantly made for this exposition must not be lost.—Napa Register.
